Grammar Third conditional

Third conditional sentences describe hypothetical situations in the past.

Use the past perfect in the if clause and would have + past participle in the main clause.

If I'd remembered, I would have brought her something.

If I hadn't forgotten, I would have brought her a gift.

If she had missed the party, she wouldn't have met Santiago.

If she hadn't gone to the party, she wouldn't have met him.

Remember: I'd = I would or I had
